

2015-2016 Internship Opportunities

The mission of Compassion Corps is to engage the hearts and resources of many to help unleash hope to the least loved in some of Africa's most difficult places. To that end, a variety of short-term, compassionate service opportunities are available in our partner countries as well as here in the United States. Lengths of service can vary from two weeks, to an interim month, to several months. Arrangements can also be made for a semester or for a full year abroad.

CURRENT OPPORTUNITIES ABROAD

- Uganda - Students with an interest in economic development could help our partners to establish income-producing ventures to help sustain their work with orphans and widows. Internships for medical workers are available. Young church leaders need discipleship and training, as well.
- Liberia - Teaching assistants are urgently needed for education-starved children in overcrowded classrooms in both rural and city locations. Economic development projects are also in great demand to enable schools to pay teachers. Hospitals and clinics have requested our medical interns, and service opportunities also exist in orphanages and churches.
- Morocco - At special needs centers throughout Morocco, help is needed in assisting professional caregivers as well as in development of self-help programs for the mothers.
